Independent Investigation Method

For K-8 teachers

Presented by Steve Grant

(Cindy Nottage, creator of the model, will assist at the 1st meeting)

The Independent Investigation Method (IIM) is a teaching model that guides primary, elementary, and secondary students through the research process. IIM empowers you to combine your required curriculum with vital research skills, choosing from options for integration of state standards, the length of study, and students' grade, skills and learning styles. There are books and teaching tools available, based on the IIM model.

Dates: Wednesday February 10, Wednesday March 10, and Wednesday April 7
4:00-7:00 p.m. (plus a minimum of three additional hours in classroom)

Location: Florence Sawyer School, Emerson Wing Room 6
50 Mechanic Street
Bolton, MA 01740

Materials required: IIM Teacher Manual and CD $49.95 (Payable on the first night)
to be ordered from Active Learning Systems
www.iimresearch.com

12 PDPs will be awarded for completion of the workshop
